COMMUNICATIONS TOOLKIT GUIDELINES

For Use By All Employees Receiving Communications Toolkit Materials

PLEASE READ FIRST: GUIDELINES FOR USING THESE MATERIALS

- Included in this packet is a set of talking points and Q&A to guide conversations with suppliers related to Essendant's agreement to combine with S.P. Richards.
- Please use the Supplier talking points and Q&A to prepare for any inbound calls or emails you receive from suppliers regarding the transaction.
- These messages are for reactive use only.
- To the extent you receive calls from suppliers, it will be important to provide clear and consistent messaging on the strategic rationale behind this transaction, and emphasize that until the transaction closes there will be no change to Essendant's operations, distribution network or product lines.
- It is absolutely critical that we all speak with one voice. Please do not speculate, make assumptions, address rumors, or discuss any details not provided in this document. Any deviations from this messaging could have very negative consequences for Essendant.
- If you are asked a question that is not covered in this document, please do not speculate or make up an answer. Instead, take note of the question and respond with the following:

“I am not sure how to answer your question, and I don't want to provide any information that may not be accurate. I am happy to pass your question along and get back to you.”
- Refer any questions that you are unable to answer to your SLT team leader.

SUPPLIER TALKING POINTS

For Use By All Supplier-Facing Employees

- Thank you for reaching out regarding [today's] news.
- We are excited about our plans to combine with S.P. Richards and believe the transaction represents an important step in our effort to evolve our business amid the rapidly changing landscape facing our industry.
- Simply put, the combination will create a stronger, more competitive national business products distributor that is better positioned to support our customers and partners like you.
- Our focus throughout this process will be combining the best of Essendant and S.P. Richards into one streamlined, stronger, and more competitive partner for our customers and suppliers.
- Our customers will benefit from:
 - Greater resources to support and partner with the independent dealer channel and resellers in other sales channels, and invest to drive enhanced value for customers, consumers and shareholders;
 - Optimized product assortment of branded and private-label products across a broad set of categories;
 - Enhanced capability to develop and offer innovative solutions to our customers, including value-added marketing and analytics to drive demand; and
 - Consolidated distribution network with greater efficiencies throughout the entire supply chain.
- Our suppliers will benefit from:
 - Improved, long term industry dynamics to support a more competitive independent reseller channel; and
 - Operational efficiencies from dealing with one, stronger partner better able to work with resellers to drive consumer demand.
- We're looking forward to all that is to come, but it's important to note that today's news is just the first step as we begin the approval and integration process.
- As such, we do not expect any changes in the near term, and it is "business as usual" until closing.
- When the transaction closes, which is expected before the end of 2018, the combined company will be led by a blended team of current Essendant and S.P. Richards leaders focused on leveraging the best of both our companies.
- Until then, Essendant and S.P. Richards will continue to operate as separate businesses, and your point of contact will remain the same.
- We looking forward to being a stronger, more competitive partner for you as we continue to work together to meet our customer's needs.
- I'm happy to answer any questions you have.

(refer to separate supplier Q&A document as needed)

- As always, thank you for your continued partnership.

SUPPLIER Q&A

For Use By All Supplier-Facing Employees

1. What does this transaction mean for suppliers and other vendors?

- The combined company will be a larger, financially stronger partner for our suppliers.
- We are confident that our suppliers will experience significant benefits from this transaction, including:
 - Improved long-term industry dynamics to support a more competitive independent reseller channel; and
 - Operational efficiencies from dealing with one, stronger partner better able to work with resellers to drive consumer demand.
- Our relationships with our valued partners remain of the utmost importance to us, and we look forward to being a financially stronger, more competitive partner for you as we continue working together.

2. Does this affect our current contract?

- The announcement of this transaction will not impact the terms of existing contracts.
- Until the transaction closes, Essendant and S.P. Richards will continue to operate independently.

3. How will this impact your future ordering needs? Are you going to try to squeeze suppliers on price?

- As part of the integration process, we will certainly be evaluating our sourcing needs; however, the transaction announcement is the first step as we begin the approval and integration process, and it's premature to discuss specifics on future needs and pricing.
- This combination will help ensure the continued strength of the independent dealer channel as a critical part of our industry's ecosystem, and that we remain a strong partner for all our suppliers.
- Our relationships with our valued partners are of the utmost importance to us, and we look forward to being a financially stronger, more competitive partner for you as we continue working together.

4. If I do business with S.P. Richards as well as Essendant will my point of contact change?

- Not at this time. Until the transaction closes, Essendant and S.P. Richards will continue to operate independently.
- If there are any changes to your contact following the close of the transaction, we will clearly communicate that to you.

5. Will you change your pricing for customers?

- Keeping Essendant's pricing competitive is an important factor in enhancing and maintaining the value we provide customers, which is a priority for us.

6. How does this transaction impact your inbound consolidation center project?

- Until the transaction closes, Essendant and S.P. Richards will continue to operate independently. All ongoing initiatives will continue in the ordinary course of business.
- Our relationships with our valued partners are of the utmost importance to us, and we look forward to being a financially stronger, more competitive partner for you as we continue working together.

7. What does this mean for your distribution network? Will you continue to offer wrap and label services, and last mile delivery?

- This announcement is only the first step in the approval and integration process – until the transaction closes, which we expect will happen before the end of 2018, Essendant will maintain its current distribution network and policies.
- Following the close, we will have a consolidated distribution network with greater efficiencies throughout the entire supply chain, allowing us to be a stronger, more streamlined partner for our customers and suppliers.

Cautionary Statement

This communication contains forward-looking statements, including statements regarding the proposed business combination transaction between Essendant Inc. (“Essendant”) and Genuine Parts Company (“GPC”) in which GPC will separate its Business Products Group and combine this business with Essendant. From time to time, oral or written forward-looking statements may also be included in other information released to the public. These forward-looking statements are intended to provide management’s current expectations or plans for our future operating and financial performance, based on assumptions currently believed to be valid. Forward-looking statements often contain words such as “expects,” “anticipates,” “estimates,” “intends,” “plans,” “believes,” “seeks,” “will,” “is likely to,” “scheduled,” “positioned to,” “continue,” “forecast,” “predicting,” “projection,” “potential” or similar expressions. Forward-looking statements may include references to goals, plans, strategies, objectives, projected costs or savings, anticipated future performance, results, events or transactions of Essendant or the combined company following the proposed transaction, the anticipated benefits of the proposed transaction, including estimated synergies, the expected timing of completion of the transaction and other statements that are not strictly historical in nature. These forward-looking statements are based on management’s current expectations, forecasts and assumptions. This means they involve a number of risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those expressed or implied here, including but not limited to: the ability of Essendant and GPC to receive the required regulatory approvals for the proposed transaction and approval of Essendant’s stockholders and to satisfy the other conditions to the closing of the transaction on a timely basis or at all; the occurrence of events that may give rise to a right of one or both of Essendant and GPC to terminate the merger agreement; negative effects of the announcement or the consummation of the transaction on the market price of Essendant’s common stock and/or on its business, financial condition, results of operations and financial performance; risks relating to the value of the Essendant shares to be issued in the transaction, significant transaction costs and/or unknown liabilities; the possibility that the anticipated benefits from the proposed transaction cannot be realized in full or at all or may take longer to realize than expected; risks associated with contracts containing consent and/or other provisions that may be triggered by the proposed transaction; risks associated with transaction-related litigation; the possibility that costs or difficulties related to the integration of the businesses will be greater than expected; and the ability of the combined company to retain and hire key personnel. There can be no assurance that the proposed transaction or any other transaction described above will in fact be consummated in the manner described or at all. Stockholders, potential investors and other readers are urged to consider these risks and uncertainties in evaluating forward-looking statements and are cautioned not to place undue reliance on the forward-looking statements. For additional information on identifying factors that may cause actual results to vary materially from those stated in forward-looking statements, please see Essendant’s and GPC’s reports on Forms 10-K, 10-Q and 8-K filed with or furnished to the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (the “SEC”) and other written statements made by Essendant and/or GPC from time to time. The forward-looking information herein is given as of this date only, and neither Essendant nor GPC undertakes any obligation to revise or update it.
